

Dedicated to Family Law

John C. Scialabba

Associate

John C. Scialabba is an associate attorney at Pollock Beggs Komar Glasser & Vertz LLC practicing in all areas of family law, including divorce, custody and support. He is collaboratively trained and holds a certificate in collaborative law from the Collaborative Law Association of Southwestern Pennsylvania.

A native of the area, John returned to western Pennsylvania to pursue a career in law after simultaneously earning a master's degree in adolescent education and working for two years as a high school science teacher in New York City. While teaching, he created an after-school credit recovery program to enable at-risk students to earn enough credits to graduate. This experience helping young people at a pivotal time in their lives shaped the way he practices law; listening and guiding clients from all walks of life through some of their most challenging times.

"To serve my clients well, I employ a combination of courtesy, conciliation, knowledge and force to satisfy each client's individual need. Whether litigating in court or using a pragmatic approach to settle their case, my primary focus is my determination to achieve results for those I represent in every forum and on every issue."

Memberships and Accomplishments

John believes in giving back to the Pittsburgh legal community. During law school, he served as president of Pitt Legal Income Sharing Foundation, a nonprofit organization awarding scholarships to students committed to helping individuals or organizations traditionally underserved by the legal community.
