

Brian C. Vertz Partner

I translate facts and figures into a narrative that judges and clients can relate to. My MBA training has been a great benefit, especially in cases that involve businesses and professional practices. But in the long run, I'm at my best when telling the client's story.

Partner Brian C. Vertz applies his three decades of experience, business acumen and sharp negotiation skills to a broad array of family law matters.

Complex Financial Analysis

With an MBA and certification as a valuation analyst, complex financial affairs have become the crux of Brian's career. He excels at cases involving:

- Valuation of closely held businesses
- Assessing personal assets including premarital wealth and trusts
- Executive compensation
- Medical and dental practices
- Complex child support litigation

Advocate and Problem Solver

Clients who work with Brian remark on his tenacity and unwavering dedication to their financial and emotional well-being. In the legal community, Brian is known as a problem solver who does not play games or engage in empty rhetoric. When a case can't be settled, Brian is a formidable advocate in the trial and appellate courts. He has developed an impressive track record in child support and divorce litigation, as well as prenup enforcement and child custody proceedings.
