

Megan A. DelVecchio
Associate

"Most clients don't plan for or expect to need a family law attorney. I was drawn to this area of practice because you can work one-on-one with clients and truly make a difference in their lives. It's always my goal to do whatever I can to alleviate their anxiety throughout the process."

Well-versed in litigation, associate attorney Megan A. DelVecchio also boasts specialized mediation training and excels at working collaboratively to settle cases out of court.

A Steadying Force

Providing a calming influence and keeping clients informed throughout their cases are Megan's chief goals. By sharing detailed explanations of the legal process and preparing her clients for each step along the way, Megan eliminates surprises and reduces stress levels while offering the best representation for each unique client circumstance.

Raising the Bar

Using her skills to benefit her community is a top priority for Megan. She made the decision to engage in pro-bono and professional development activities early in her studies when attending Duquesne University School of Law, where she participated in the Family Law Clinic, Civil Rights Clinic, Criminal Prosecution Clinic and earned a Pro Bono Certificate. As a practicing attorney, Megan has been an active contributor to continuing legal education programs, presenting case law updates and seminars for the Matrimonial Inns of Court, the Pennsylvania and Allegheny County bar associations and Duquesne University School of Law.
