

Anastasia Brophy Snyder
Associate

"My number one goal is preserving families and empowering clients as they transition to their next chapter. I treat each client with empathy and kindness, always mindful that we're working through one of the toughest times in their life. I want my clients to feel heard and well represented in and out of the courtroom."

Pittsburgh family law attorney Anastasia Brophy Snyder brings empathy and a talent for conflict resolution to complex and sometimes painful family law issues.

Passionate Advocate

Anastasia brings a background in advocacy and a passion for empowerment to Pollock Begg. From her work with the Allegheny County Bar Foundation's Juvenile Court Project to her volunteer service as a voter protection attorney, Anastasia has focused on giving voice to the disenfranchised and protecting the rights of those most at risk. Her commitment to equity and inclusion gives her a unique perspective into the complexities of family law.

Levelheaded Negotiator

Compassionate and attuned to the needs of her clients, Anastasia takes the time to listen and understand her clients' positions. Combining empathy with a dose of pragmatism, she set realistic expectations and keeps clients informed through every step of the process. Anastasia guides clients through complex family law issues with an eye toward negotiating resolutions that benefit clients and preserve family harmony.
